Tax Forms By The Millions

Federal income taxpayers in New England and New York will receive their new Form 1040 in the mail starting Monday, the Internal Revenue Service has announced.

A total of 11 million multi-colored forms are being mailed from the IRS Service Center, Andover, in 48,600 specially designed cartons. The traditional mail sacks have been discarded to reduce costs. A fleet of 90 trailer trucks is delivering the forms to strategic postal points through the North Atlantic Region.

The same returns are due back at the service center on or before April 15, 1970. Starting in January all returns, including business, are to be filed directly to the service center. An addressed envelope is included in the new form 1040 package for taxpayers' use.

Director Norman E. Morrill of the service center advises taxpayers who will be filing returns due refunds to send them as early as possible. The IRS requires four to six weeks to complete the processing of returns due refunds. In the current filing period the service center processed 7.9 million returns due refunds that totaled $1.5 billion.

The new Form 1040 is a combination of the old forms 1040 and 1040A. In the New York, New England areas 3.1 million former 1040A filers will be using the new form. With the new form, the old 1040A filers will be able to itemize all of their deductions.

Private Plowing Pondered

Plowing of private streets by the town will be studied by the town manager, as a result of discussions by the selectmen Monday night.

William Turner of Serenity Lane asked the board to consider plowing his street which is a private way. The town has a policy with regard to private streets and plows as long as there are two or more residences on the street.

Turner is the only resident on the street at present, and told the board that he was paying substantial taxes, yet not obtaining this particular service.

He commented that his taxes are being paid for education purposes, yet he has no children in the public schools.

Along with the Turner request, was one from the Brockway-Smith-Haigh-Lovell Co., off Dascomb road, asking the town to consider plowing the street leading into their property.

This brought considerable discussion, as Selectman William Stewart and Sidney P. White felt that if such request was approved then a precedent would be set, regarding plowing for industries.

Selectmen Roger W. Collins and Philip K. Allen, felt that the street was built to reach the new building and that of Allied Chemical. Plowing of the street, they felt, was a normal request.

The two noted that the town plows up to the parking lots of other industries, which are located on town-accepted streets.

White felt that Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien should look into the matter and report back in two weeks.

Budget

The selectmen will begin work on studying the 1970 municipal budget beginning next week.

A special meeting is scheduled for Monday at 7:30 p.m. to begin the study and additional work sessions are being planned, some during the day.

Along with the budget study, Selectman Sidney P. White wants his colleagues to consider abolishing the special town meeting in October.

White said obtaining a quorum was difficult and that, as evidenced by the attendance at the past year's town meeting, mandatory under town bylaws, a very thin representation of the residents.

He feels that if a special town meeting is necessary following the annual session, then the selectmen can call one.

Also, White wants the board to consider postponing the annual town meeting until April. He would keep the annual town election, which is actually the first article in the town meeting warrant, on the first Monday in March.

White said that with better weather conditions, possibly a better turnout of voters would show up at an April annual town meeting, rather than in March.

He said this would give officials more time to study budgets and articles and would allow time to stimulate interest in the town meeting issues.

Evans Report

The Evans report, a review of the town's wage and employment conditions, is due to be given the selectmen in preliminary form

Our Cover

The TOWNSMAN, in our Christmas frontispiece, shows the statue of Phillips Brooks, a minister of Andover's original church, the North Parish in North Andover.

Snow-frocked, the author of the traditional Christmas hymn, "O little Town of Bethlehem," faces the original worship place in the suburban town.

We felt it appropriate, taking advantage of nature, to honor not only one of Andover's original clergymen, but also to pay tribute to the author of one of the traditional hymns of Christmas.

In the first edition of the TOWNSMAN, Oct. 14, 1887, under the masthead, were contained the words of Phillips Brooks, on his thoughts of Andover - "Andover, everywhere and always, first, last, she has been the manly, straight-forward sober, patriotic, New England town."

Christmas Time In Andover

Andover is prepared for the traditional observance of Christmas as the busy holiday season comes to a climax this evening and Thursday.

Shoppers were busy right through the final hours, many making last minute purchases today in anticipation of the exchange of gifts tomorrow.

The holiday mails were flooded with the traditional greetings of the season. The post office department, handling a record load of greetings and parcel post packages, moved along well in meeting the heavy demand.

The holiday will be marked by family reunions as many former residents return home for visits with family and friends.

Special music will be a part of religious services in Andover churches tonight and on Christmas day.

Special services are also scheduled for tonight and Christmas day in Andover churches.

A listing of the services and the music programs are contained in this edition of the TOWNSMAN.

For the youngsters, it will be a culmination of weeks of anxiety as they await the arrival of Santa Claus. All reports indicate that the jolly, bewhiskered gent will be leaving the North Pole on schedule and Andover's environs are well suited for his arrival.

In general, after weeks of preparation and anticipation, Christmas has arrived and will pass all too soon.

Town Clerk To Retire

Town Clerk Irving O. Piper will retire at the end of March, it was announced Monday by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

Mr. Piper, under the rules of the retirement system must step down and officially should retire at the end of this month.

The manager and the selectmen, Monday, continued his employment until after the March election and town meeting on an emergency basis, allowable under the retirement laws.

He began his service with the town in July of 1960, succeeding the late George Winslow.

Prior to that, he was assistant office manager of the Southwell Combing Co., in Lowell. He had also served as controller for the American Woolen Co. in Shawshen.

He is treasurer of the West Parish church.

Filling of the vacancy is done by the town manager under the charter. His appointment of a successor must be approved by the selectmen.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin will be reviewing candidates and is hopeful of making an appointment before Mr. Piper leaves office at the end of March.

Hockey Team Opens With Tie

By Dick Harrison

Coach Charlie Vars' Andover High hockey team opened its Merrimack Valley Schoolboy Hockey League season with an exciting 2-2 tie with Masconomet Regional this past week at the Merrimack Valley Forum.

In basketball, Coach Wil Hixon's Golden Warrior quintet notched a pair of lopsided victories, beating Wilmington, 65-41, and Dracut, 67-22.

Andover's first line wing Steve St. Jean scored a goal with 45 seconds remaining in the game to salvage the hockey tie for the local sextet.

Trailing 2-1 entering the final minute of play, Coach Vars lifted goalie Allan Chapman in favor of an extra skater with 53 seconds left. The move paid off eight seconds later when St. Jean pumped in the tying tally.

The two clubs battled through a scoreless opening period of fast, action-packed hockey. The 12-minute session passed quickly with few whistles, but the team managed just five shots on net between them.

The Chieftains finally broke the scoring ice at 3:49 of the second stanza when Dan McCraime scored an unassisted tally with his own club a man short at the time.

McCraime started his solo rush just in front of his own net. He wheeled up ice all alone, stick-handled around several Andover defenders, and then whipped a 15-foot back-hander past Chapman.

The Golden Warriors tied the game 1-1 at 5:16 of the third period on an unassisted tally by Capt. Jan Gottesfeld. Gottesfeld, Andover's top scorer last season with 27 points, also took the puck from his own zone on a solo drive. He skated down the right side, circled in behind the Masconomet net, and pushed a five-footer into an open corner for the score.

It was a power goal for the Andover captain, as Masconomet was a man down at the time.

Two minutes later Gottesfeld hit the post with a quick, 20-foot wrist shot. Andover kept the pressure on Masconomet goalie Jeff Ackerman for much of the final period, but the Chieftains suddenly switched the momentum with the go-ahead lampighter at the 7:34 point.

McCraime was again the culprit on another unassisted maneuver. This score was a blazing 35-foot slapshot that whistled past Chapman before he had time to react.

This gave Masconomet a 2-1 edge and set the stage for St. Jean's last minute heroics. Both Doug Grange and Mark Hockmeyer collected assists on St. Jean's red lighter.

Both goalkeepers were superb in the game. Ackerman turned back 25 Andover shots, and Chapman had 16 saves in the Andover cage. The Golden Warriors held a 27-18 shooting edge.

Both Hockmeyer and Dave Marson played excellent defense for Andover, while Tim Fuller, Craig Bliss, Dick Anderson and Jeff Lewis were other standouts for the Golden Warriors.

Andover meets defending league champion Wilmington, which is 2-0-0 and unscored-upon this season, in a 5:45 p.m. match on Dec. 24. They also return to action Saturday, Dec. 27, in a 1 p.m. tilt against Burlington.

Burlington and Andover are arch hockey rivals from last season, when the Red Devils finished second in the loop and Andover third. Both games are at the Merrimack Valley Forum.

Andover is currently fifth in the league with its 0-0-1 record, but this early in the season standings mean very little.

The Andover basketball team moved into a tie for second place in the Merrimack Valley Conference with its back-to-back wins recently. Andover is now 2-1 overall, with unbeaten North Andover, Billerica and Chelmsford all knotted for the top spot.

Andover outgunned Wilmington in all four periods en route to the 66-41 rout of the Wildcat quintet. The winners jumped out to a 15-12 first period lead, and then held a wide 17-5 second quarter spread to open up a 32-17 halftime edge. The Golden Warriors poured it on with identical 17-12 scoring bulges in the third and fourth quarters to win going away.

Co-Capt. Paul Howe paced the well-balanced Andover attack with 13 points, Tom Adams had 12, Dave Hixon 11 points, Shawn Mason and Co-Capt. Dick Muller eight points apiece, Neal Davis six points and Art Nichols and Phil Leitch four markers apiece.

Biff Moriarty and Mark Suduiko also chipped in with some fine play.

It was much the same story at the Andover High gym against a highly-out-classed Dracut club. Andover jumped out to a big first quarter spread, and then kept adding to its lead with each successive quarter.

Again Andover had a well-balanced scoring charge paced by Howe with 14 points, Hixon with 11 points and Muller with 10 points.

Mason, a big 6'7" center, chipped in with a number of blocked shots in both tilts. He and Howe also combined to sweep the offensive and defensive boards clean for the Warriors.

Andover does not return to league action again until Tuesday, Jan. 6, when it plays host to winless Tewksbury. The following Friday the club travels to Methuen to play its Little Three rivals, the Rangers, at the Tenny High gym.

Christmas

We do not have the Peace on Earth this Christmas that Christ so earnestly beseeched us to pursue. As more and more governments of the world are expressing a distaste for war and are organizing politically to keep the peace, there is hope that the Prince of Peace may yet realize his cherished dream for all mankind.

Historic Exhibit Planned

Great-grandmother's kitchen and pantry was full of household paraphernalia of all kinds, objects in iron, wood, brass and tin which an age of automatic labor-saving devices has rendered obsolete.

The Andover Historical Society has assembled a rich collection over the years of such household implements, for the most part donated from early Andover homes and thus full of picturesque local associations. The old Moses Foster estate on Hidden Road contributed many of these. Objects once owned and probably used by Mrs. Samuel Phillips in the last "Mansion House" on Andover Hill are also there, and implements of all kinds from the Hannah Abbot Collection which Mrs. Clara Flint Reed has returned to Andover in the last few years. The list is a long one and includes recent contributions of great interest from Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith and Fred E. Cheever.

Since this material is for the most on display in the barn and therefore not available during the winter months, the Society plans to feature selected objects of special interest for its January exhibition: "Kitchen, Pantry, and Laundry in Early Andover". The exhibition opens Sunday, Jan. 4, from 3 to 5 p.m. and may also be seen on the regular open days, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 2-4 p.m. throughout the month.

Selected For Who's Who

Among the 19 seniors and juniors at Salem State College who have been selected for inclusion in the 1969-70 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges is Helen J. Auchterlonie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Auchterlonie, 76 Red Spring Road, an English major. She has served as news editor of The Log, student newspaper, and on the Art Committee and Committee on Academic Policies.

South School Decorations From Contest

The children at South Elementary School participated recently in a contest which inspired them to use all their creativity in making festive decorations to beautify their classroom doors in seasonal holiday themes.

The contest rules required that all the decorations be made by the pupils from materials at hand in the school. Mrs. Long, the school nurse, Mrs. Scholtz, school secretary, and Mrs. Gallant judged the contest entries. Room 3, Mrs. Cullinan's class received the banner for first place in the primary division. Room 10, Mrs. Spaulding's class was the winner in the older grades. There was such great enthusiasm for the contest, which was originated by Mrs. Spaulding, that it may well become an annual event.

On Monday, Dec. 29, the students at South School will participate in a Skating Party to be held at Frost Arena. Mrs. Audrey Nason is chairlady for the party held under the auspices of the School Board Talks Of Funds

Christmas is for giving, so Christmas week is a good week to record a letter of thanks the school department has received from Rev. A. Graham Baldwin of the United Fund.

In the letter, read at last week's school committee meeting, Rev.
Mr. Baldwin informed Superintendent
Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert that the Greater Lawrence United Fund
Office was delighted and grateful for a $1500 increase in the school staff's United Fund contributions this year; he praised the motivation and organization which made this help available to those who need it.

Speaking of funds, and those who need it, Dr. Seifert also reported at the same meeting on the idea of hiring a federal funds coordinator to handle investigation of and applications for, federal funds available to public school systems.
Dr. Daniel Frishman had suggested this, saying he gathered, from attending educational conferences, that an aggressive federal funds coordinator could not only save the time that busy administrators had to devote to this, but more than pay back his salary, by the extra funds that full time attention to the matter would bring in.
The idea seems to be that the system which hires a wheel to squeak fulltime will get plenty of grease.

Dr. Seifert said he had come to the conclusion that it was best, and feasible for him, to first find out how much traffic was actually likely, in federal fund-

Watters Seeks Re-Election

Robert A. Watters, chairman of the board of selectmen, announced Monday night at the Selectmen's meeting that he would seek re-election to another term as Selectman.

Watters has served two terms on the board, and was elected chairman last year, when this post was relinquished by Selectman Philip Allen.

Before serving as selectman, Watters was member and chairman of the finance committee, on the Industrial Commission and a member of the Land Acquisition Committee, as well as heading the original study committee on the town manager charter system in 1963.

He is a past president of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, and the Greater Lawrence YMCA, and was instrumental in the creation of the Andover YMCA.

A year ago, the selectman chairman retired after 40 years with the George W. Dinsmoor Company, which he had served as president and general manager.

Watters released the following statement to the TOWNSMAN this week.

"I have today taken out nomination papers for re-election to another three year term as a Selectman.

"I feel that Andover has made very satisfactory progress during the past few years and that we are in excellent condition so far as residential and industrial development are concerned. We have pressing problems facing us in the next few years, but I believe we also have the necessary resources to solve those problems.

"Since my semi-retirement a year ago, I have been able to devote much more time to the responsibilities and duties of the office of Selectman, and if the voters of Andover are willing, I shall be very glad to serve one more term to do what I can to maintain Andover as a desirable place in which to live and work."

Extend Hours For New Year's

The selectmen, acting as the licensing commission, have extended the closing hour for establishments serving liquor until 2 a.m. New Year's morning.

The action was taken Monday, with Selectman William Stewart opposed, feeling it would set a precedent.

It was noted that similar action was taken a year ago for the New Year's holiday only.

Seifert pointed out that preliminary investigation showed that federal funds under the various titles are now slowing down to a trickle, except for really disadvantaged school districts. He has written to the state department of education to be appraised of which federal funds are available for the Andover system, and will report his findings.

This trickle, according to Assistant Superintendent Vaughn I. Clapp, is largely for innovative projects.

The Federal Government position is that these projects not only can benefit the system which has the talent and energy to initiate them, but can serve as demonstration models for other systems to follow.

Clapp outlined for some of the federally funded projects which the Andover schools have initiated and/or benefitted from. Through Title I Funds, of the Elementary and Secondary Education

Act, Andover first secured the services of the team of psychologist, psychiatrist and social worker, for financially disadvantaged students. The administration soon realized that their services were needed by others, and the scope was extended to include more generally educationally disadvantaged students. The school system has now taken this service over into its own budget.

Title II of the same act reimburses any school district up to a certain amount for library books and audio-visual materials, in an attempt to beef up the educational resources of all communities in the nation. Andover's share last year was about $4,800, a free gift, depending on the effort the school has made.

Title III has provided Andover, through the National Defense Education Science Fund, with funds to purchase laboratory equipment. Other Title III funds paid for the original basic materials to start the individualized reading programs which are now in all the Andover schools.

Title V funded a guidance project, and also paid all the expenses of the training program for tutors of perceptually handicapped children last year.

There have been other smaller grants, Clapp reported, such as the kindergarten planning grant initiated at the Sanborn School,

Advice For A Young Man

A young family man is naturally concerned about providing for his future. The best advice for a young man living in a growing community is to buy real estate. Buy it where he lives now and where he expects to spend his lifetime.

What advantages can a young man gain from this advice? First, and maybe most important, he forms the habit of regular saving.

He learns to take responsibility. There is something about owning property that gives a man roots.

He is respected as an established member of his community.

He learns to observe other real estate transactions. He will have opportunities to buy and sell presented to him as time goes on. He learns to make profits from buying and selling.

Your Realtor can show you good areas for real estate investment.

IRS FORMS. Director Norman E. Morrill of the North Atlantic Regional Internal Revenue Service center on Lowell street, examines some of the 11,000,000 new 1040 forms being mailed to taxpayers in New England and New York. Employees at the center have been working around the clock for six weeks to prepare the forms for mailing. Since Nov. 26, the service center has processed 25 million pieces of mail which will be due back in Andover by April 15.

IRS*(Continued from Page One)*

The new Form 1040 has the advantage of being short - only a single page. Except for a few lines it seeks the same information as the old card form and at the same time has separate schedules which taxpayers can file according to their personal needs. The sequence of schedules is arranged so a taxpayer can add in "building block" fashion the schedules he needs.

Postal officials have been requested to have all the tax forms delivered by Jan. 6, 1970.

IRS requests taxpayers to use the form received in the mail for it has a preaddressed name label, contains information used in processing and helps expedite the refund process.

IRS also requests taxpayers to double check their return before mailing it to the service center. This year 1.5 million errors were detected in processing. Of this number 700,000 were made by taxpayers who overcharged themselves $1 or more. Other errors included invalid or incorrect social security numbers (use of the name label will prevent this), failure to include necessary schedules and use of the wrong tax table, line or column.

When filing the new form 1040, taxpayers will be asked to fasten their Form W-2 to the back of the return and not the side as was the custom in past years.

Youth Concert Is Planned

At the December meeting of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society, plans were made for the "Young Person's Concert" to be held on Jan. 11, 1970, at 3:30, in the auditorium of the Andover West Junior High school.

The theme of the program will be "How the Symphony Orchestra Grew." With words and music, Nicholas Van Slyck, conductor, and the orchestra will dramatize the development of the symphony orchestra from the year 1723 to the present century. The following works will be included:

Brandenburg Concerto #3, Bach; Symphony #25, Mozart; Symphony #7 in A Major, Beethoven; Karelia Suite, Sibelius.

There will be no intermission. While the concert will be specifically directed to the cultural enlightenment and enjoyment of the young, a mature audience will find the program equally entertaining and interesting.

Mrs. Anthony J. Ippolito, president of the society, announced that the Campfire Girls will be participating sponsors, and that all schools, churches, youth organizations and agencies are also invited to take part in the presentation of the Youth Concert by selling a minimum of 25 tickets. These organizations will be listed on the program as "Participating Groups." Mrs. Ippolito will be happy to provide further information to any group interested.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Society or Women's Guild, or directly from the ticket chairman, Miss Emma DeFelice, Woodland St., Methuen. The tickets are priced at $2 for adults, and $1 for students, through college age.

A Concert for Young People has been the dream of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society and Orchestra since its formation nine seasons ago. With the reality not many weeks away, the members of MVPS wholeheartedly seek the cooperation of every parent.

dover school system, to meet a need, then approved for funding by appropriate government agencies.

Clapp said that Andover is now joining a regional group, as with the perceptually handicapped tutoring training project, for the training of teacher aides. This will be funded through the Educational Professional Development Act. The school administrators promised more information on federal funding, and the possible need for a coordinator, at a later meeting.

Conservationists Protect Environment

Some day the volunteers serving as conservation commissioners in New England will be called what they actually are: commissioners of environmental quality.

Meanwhile, the 4100 men and women serving their towns and cities as the environmental conscience of the communities will continue to serve under the inadequate -- and at this point in time, quite fuzzy -- title of "conservation" commissioners.

These thoughts struck us as we thumbed through a new 215-page paperback entitled "Conservation Commissions in Massachusetts." Even the title of the volume is a misnomer, since the status of the conservation commissions in Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Maine is included. The bulk of the text involves Massachusetts mainly because it all started there 11 years ago and some excellent case histories of what has been done can be found in the commonwealth.

Perhaps at this point, one should state what a conservation commission is. In all states, except Maine where boards are limited to five persons, the commissions consist of seven local residents. They are named by the selectmen, mayor or municipal manager to serve three-year terms. Their duty: a rather vague responsibility for "conservation" in the community.

In 1960 there were exactly 19 conservation commissions in all New England -- and all were in Massachusetts. Since their mission was unclear, their accomplishments had been rather minimal. But in April that year, the conservation commission tide turned, largely as a result of a speech delivered by the late Ward E. Duffy, then editor of the Hartford Times, delivered at the first convention of commissions at the Harvard Business School.

Duffy counseled commissioners (1) To take it easy -- but not too easy. Conflicts of interest will arise, and they must be faced squarely, but don't push too hard and remember that compromise will be needed. (2) Conduct an immediate and complete survey of the natural resources of your town, perhaps using a simple question and answer sheet mailed to all citizens. (3) Get the facts -- the local facts. (4) Pay no attention to political parties, for cooperation and assistance will come from both sides of the fence. (5) Publicize results and findings as widely as possible.

With this rather flexible guideline before them, the conservation commissions meshed into gear. Soon they were fighting to save local marshes, urging flood plain zoning, seeking to save open spaces, buying woodlands, and indulging in such utilitarian projects as setting up swimming holes for the local kids and finding places where families could have picnics. In Massachusetts alone they have transferred through gift, tax title or purchase some 6500 acres into public lands.

In urban areas, conservation commissions now are entering such sophisticated areas as air and water pollution control and solid waste disposal. They are local citizens coming to grips with the local problems that now produce newspaper headlines.

At the latest count, there were 276 commissions in Massachusetts; 27 in Rhode Island; 101 in Connecticut; 85 in New Hampshire, and eight in Maine. For a copy of "Conservation Commissions in Massachusetts" send $3 for a prepaid copy to The Conservation Services Center, Lincoln, Mass. 01773. The book is published by The Conservation Foundation in Washington, D.C.

The American Gem Society acknowledges that there is a place for diamond substitutes in some women's jewelry wardrobes. At the present time, Mrs. Richard Burton is having an exact replica of her new 69.42 carat diamond made by an Eastern firm. She hopes to confuse would-be thieves by alternating her genuine gem with the substitute. Others in the theatrical world also rely upon diamond substitutes.

Plans are complete and reservations are closed for the matinee performance of Ice Capades. The bus will leave The Haven, Dec. 30, at 12:30 and will return immediately after the performance. The round-trip fare will be $1.50.

The next regular luncheon for Andover's senior citizens will be held Tuesday, Jan. 6 at the Vocational High School. Buses leave The Haven at 12:30 and luncheon is served at one o'clock. Reservations are absolutely essential. Recently many have shown up without reservations and although attempts were made to feed them, it resulted in some who had made reservations doing without some of the items included in the fee. Even the day before the luncheon is not too late to notify The Haven that you would like to attend, but everyone is urged to make a reservation out of consideration for all.

Classes will resume at The Haven the week of Jan. 5 at their usually scheduled times.

The Night Before Christmas

The following is offered for the benefit of parents who would like to recite the traditional Christmas poem, while the children hang the stockings before being trundled off to bed.

The poem was written many years ago by Clark Clement Moore and has been a Christmas favorite.

A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS

'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house,
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugarplums danced in their heads;
And Mama in her kerchief and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap,
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from the bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the newfallen snow
Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below,
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid that eagles his coursers they came,

And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:
"Now, Dasher! Now, Dancer! Now Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! On Cupid! On Donner and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch! To the top of the wall!
Now dash away! Dash away! Dash away all!"
As dry leaves before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle mount to the sky;
So up to the housetop the coursers they flew
With a sleigh full of Toys, and St. Nicholas too.
And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound,
He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of Toys he had slung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes - how they twinkled! His dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, His nose like a cherry!

His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face and a round little belly
That shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself;
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread;
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings, then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose;
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night."

- Clark Clement Moore

Local Team Begins Season

The Andover Institute of Business basketball team under coach Charlie LaBelle of North Andover opened its 16 game season this week against AIB-Portland.

The AIB-Andover team has won the championship in its AIB-league for the past two seasons.

In addition to the regular AIB conference of eight teams, the Andover school this year has joined the Eastern Massachusetts Small College Conference that is comprised of Northern Essex, Emerson, North Shore Commercial College, Gordon College, AIB-Lynn, AIB-Andover, Bryant-McIntosh, Newbury School and Massachusetts College of Art.

Coach LaBelle, who lost four of his starters with last year's graduation feels this will be another good year. He explains that last year's team was so strong that they had a substantial lead early in the game which gave the freshmen lots of playing time.

Don't block registers or radiators with furniture or drapes. While it may require a little ingenuity on the part of the homeowner to avoid this, it will pay off handsomely in lower fuel bills and greater comfort.

If you have a fireplace, make sure the damper is closed when it's not in use. An open damper usually can waste as much heat as an open window.

Courts To Save Environment

The courtrooms of the nation are the last hope of the environment, according to Victor Yannacone, Jr., the lawyer who led the fight against DDT in courtrooms across America. Legislation is too slow; regulatory agencies are too narrow in outlook and ecologically incompetent; the only solution is lawsuits against those who are wrecking the environment.

Speaking at the recent Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, Mr. Yannacone said, "Experience has shown that litigation is the only nonviolent, civilized way to secure immediate consideration of basic questions of human rights. Litigation seems to be the only rational way to focus the attention of our legislators on the basic problems of human existence. The only way, that is, short of bloody revolution. The door to the courthouse must be held open, for if it is closed, the door to the streets is opened."

"Those of you who would make wise use of our natural resources and protect the basic elements of our environment -- air, water, and diverse, viable populations of plants and animals -- look to the human rights struggle in the American courts ..."

"Most of the major social changes which have made America a finer place to live have had their basis in fundamental constitutional litigation. Someone had to sue somebody before the legislature -- in enlightened self-interest, recognizing the public benefit -- took action ..."

"The courtroom is the last arena where the individual citizen can meet mighty government or big business and hope to survive. The environment -- the very breath of life -- needs the protection of the trial bar ..."

"The air we breathe, the water we drink and our natural resource treasures must have their day in court."

There is plenty of money available to protect the financial interests of business, but little to protect the people and the environment, according to Mr. Yannacone. "Great industries will never lack for advocates! Government will never lack for advocates! People need advocates! People need champions! Our human and natural resources need protection."

In the fight against DDT, from the time Mr. Yannacone started in Long Island in 1966 through the end of the Wisconsin litigation this fall, Mr. Yannacone and his supporters spent $71,000 for expenses -- with no legal fees. In contrast, the defendants -- the wealthy companies that make DDT -- spent about a million dollars in public relations and about $500,000 in legal fees.

Ironically, after Mr. Yannacone's vigorous legal battle against DDT -- initiated at his own expense and carried on by him without legal fees -- he has been asked to resign as chief counsel of the Environmental Defense Fund, which he helped to form two years ago to combat the use of DDT. The move, reportedly, was motivated by an offer of a major foundation grant to the Environmental Defense Fund provided it would de-emphasize its legal activities and work on more general public education activities.

Luckily Mr. Yannacone is a fighter. Now that the Environmental Defense Fund is turning away from legal action, he has announced the formation of a new interstate law firm which will limit its activities to environmental concerns.

Registration

At Lowell

For Courses

Registration for the spring semester of the Lowell State College Graduate School will take place on Tuesday, Jan. 6 and Thursday, Jan. 8, between 3 and 5:30 p.m. in the Administration Building. The spring semester begins Jan. 27.

A number of new courses will be offered in the spring curriculum. Among these is "Inquiries in Space Science", which will be taught by Dr. George Carr, associate professor of physics at L.S.C. Through a combination of lecture-discussion and laboratory inquiries, students in this course will investigate basic principles of space travel and exploration, along with a study of stars, planets, the atmosphere, and interplanetary and interstellar space. Telescopic observations will be an important part of the course.

Also of note are two courses by the music education curriculum. Both will be joint courses, taught by two members of the music faculty. These include "Music Performance in a Changing Educational Environment", taught jointly by Dr. Edward Gilday, professor and chairman of the department of music at the college, and Willis Traphagen, assistant chairman of the music department. "New Approaches to Teaching through Music", given by Dr. Gilday and Mrs. Ruth Ashley of the music faculty is another joint offering.

Site Study Committee Reports

The Campus Site Study Committee has set its research objectives, appointed its subcommittees for their study, and expects some results by mid-January. Its chairman has informed the Selectmen.

Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. is chairman of the committee appointed as a result of October's Town Meeting for a complete study of Andover's school site needs, and the relative merits of single or multi-site location of all the town's schools.

Bernardin wrote Selectman Chairman Robert Watters that the committee's objectives are an analysis of the schools' present and future needs, cost comparison of single-campus and the present multi-area type of school construction, and, thirdly, the philosophy and analysis of the two types, from the point of view of efficiency of teaching and administration. Utilities and the town's safety services will also be considered, and a study of planning funds in each case.

Analysis of present and future needs - Joseph Amante, Jack Sheehy and Pete Jensen. This committee will consider the existing school population, present school facilities, and their adequacy, town and school population projections, future school needs, including the acreage needed for school housing, the location of future growth in the town, and how present buildings fit into the concept of flexible education needs per pupil.

A cost comparison of constructing buildings all on one site, or at more than one site, will be considered by Jean Chalifour, Irving Newman and Pete Jensen. They will define campus type construction, and consider additions and renovations and maintenance pertaining to both types.

The subcommittee of Dr. Richard Katz, Ann Bedford and Milton Victor will consider the educational philosophy and analysis of both types from the point of view of teaching and administrative efficiency. Included will be discussion of the range of children by age on one site.

Roger Collins and Frank Byrne will consider the ancillary items of roads and sidewalks, buses, water and sewage and the police and fire functions.

Frank Byrne will study town, state, Federal government and private planning funds, and Irving Newman and Joseph Amante will have charge of the assembly of the results of the other communities' experience.
